Reasons of retraction (this part will be displayed in the Statement of Retraction on the publication website)	Due to the fact that it was my first time to write and publish academic papers, I did not know and pay attention to some key points. Later, as I gradually master the main points of how to write and publish a paper, I reviewed the paper carefully again. Unfortunately, some mistakes are found in that paper: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Some page number of the reference section is wrong and the format of reference list needs to be improved. 2. The translation of human names in reference list are wrong. 3. There exist logical loopholes in the expression of opinions that are not in accordance with China's real estate market. 4. According to the problems I have already found, it turns out that I was not skilled at research when I wrote this paper, and this article cannot reflect my current scientific research level. Therefore, I decided to retract this article to prevent causing confusion to other researchers. I am so sorry that I did not recognize those mistakes when I submitted my paper.
